Getting to Know Each Other

PS2 children were asked to bring 4 objects that belong to them in 'All about me' bag for show and tell. The children were enthusiastic and excited as they spoke about the objects and the stories related to them. We were pleasantly surprised by how many excellent communicators, risk takers, inquirers, knowledgeable and creative learners there are amongst us. It was a wonderful opportunity for all of us to learn about each other and we are looking forward to sharing many more such learning experiences together in PS2.

PYP4's First Visit to the Library

This week: We had our first library visit to get new books. Establishing routines and login details with Mr. Arif Shaikh in the IT Lab. Discovering and investigating into Probability in Maths. We now know our Central Idea. We made connections between the transdisciplinary theme and the central idea. We are now looking forward to inquiring into people's beliefs and we have started by interviewing someone.

MYP1 Information Evening

On 19th August a special information session for MYP1 parents was organized. The main objective of the meeting was to orient the parents with the MYP philosophy, its fundamental concepts, assessments and reporting; the significance of areas of interaction. To achieve this, parents created criteria for assessment on a hypothetical task. They actively participated in the discussion on areas of interaction. Parents who moved up to MYP from PYP, were aware of the IB philosophy and the learner profile attributes which is common for all the three programmes. Those who were new to the programme, were very active and could catch up with the group.

Orientation session for New Students

An orientation session was organized on 22nd August for all new admissions. The students participated with varying degrees, most students contributed actively while others processed information in a quiet manner. The session commenced with the learner profile attributes. This led to collaborative activity on areas of interaction thus enabling students to understand its importance. Some students inquired about reporting, while others clarified the meanings of some aspects of learner profile.

DP1 and 2 Trip to Panchgani- Camping

On the morning of the 15th of August, the whole of DP1 and DP2 left for a trip to Panchgani shortly after the Independence Day celebration held at school. The trip was to be an overnight camping adventure packed with exciting and adventurous activities and it certainly held true to its description.

We were randomly separated into two different groups while boarding our buses so as to make sure that we would be able to bond, especially with the new students as opposed to sticking with our own respective classes. This was a wonderful opportunity that we were given as we got to mix with each other even before the camping had begun. We also got the chance to get familiar with some of our instructors who were students just like us.

On arriving at the campsite, we were assigned to our dormitories and tents respectively after which we headed for a wonderful lunch where everyone enjoyed together as one big group. The Pugmarks camp was filled with some exciting activities such as flying fox and walking from one tree to another on a rope the commando walk. Initially, these activities seemed to be quite the task for some of us and we were required to step out of our comfort zones and face our fears. However, on doing so, it was a fantastic feeling indeed. The highlight of the camp was waterfall rappelling. The mere thought of going down 80 feet, waterfall was nerve wrecking and seemed like an extremely daring thing to most of us. However, this is where the idea of team spirit came in because even though we went down that waterfall as individuals, we were only able to do so because we were being cheered on and encouraged by the other members of our team.

The whole experience taught us to be risk takers, step beyond our boundaries and discover more about ourselves. It also helped in our character development. Most importantly, I believe that this trip and the activities involved went on to prove to most of us that there was no such thing as a limit because with a little bit of determination and will power, we can rise from our fears to do things that were previously beyond our imagination; things that we believed we would never be able to.

Snippets ...!!

It has been a busy but enjoyable time settling the students back into Boarding life.

There is a new buzz about the place with so many teaching staff and students now based in the top two floors of the building.

With all the students coming over for their Language and PHSE classes, our Labrador, Guinness has many new and enthusiastic friends, especially amongst the PYPs!

We have had one few unexpected visitor...a Black Drongo. Thankfully he found his way out after a few hours.

There have been two Birthdays to celebrate....Grishma and Kabir's. Chocolate cakes are always popular!
